

Conference 2018 – Recent Landmark Decisions – Attorneys Jeff Gamso and Lea Bickerton

written by admin | July 25, 2018

The basis for litigation reform and the results of civil rights litigation vary widely from state to state and jurisdiction to jurisdiction. This presentation examines a number of challenges from the past couple of years and seeks to understand the key constitutional arguments that have been made, what has been successful, and the reason why there are such disparate results between states and circuits.
