

Serena's Law: Closing a loophole that allowed sexual abusers to continue working with kids

written by admin | November 26, 2021

There's a loophole that allows sexual abusers to continue working with children even if an organization does a background check. But, because of one young woman's bravery, the system is fixed. ... Now, "Serena's Law" requires each clerk of court to post the identity online of someone who has an injunction or [...]
