

Litigation request or proposal form

written by Fred | December 10, 2021

NARSOL assists with litigation efforts throughout the United States by joining existing cases and initiating strategically important new cases. Our limited resources are focused on constitutional challenges, meaning that a statute or an administrative directive violates the United States constitution. Submit this form if you believe you have a constitutional challenge that would benefit a significant number of individuals.

IMPORTANT: Every cause of action must clearly benefit many individuals. Keep in mind that a statute may still be constitutional even if a group of people oppose what it does.

Notice: JavaScript is required for this content.